

A Glance at Conservation, Restoration and Reconstruction of Historic Texture of Semnan.

Razieh Rezazadeh, Ph. D.

Mosstafa Abasszadegan, Ph. D.

The historic texture of Semnan is a prototype of cities where severe depreciation has entered them and without efficient interventions would not be able to survive. This article, by presenting the problem of the historic texture of Semnan, reviews theoretical framework of the study, the hypothesis on which the plan is built and the general approach toward planning. In the end, this experience is criticized as one of the first plans on conservation, restoration and reconstruction of historic textures.